Biblical Studies is a dynamic discipline which offers academically excellent and contextually relevant modules and postgraduate degrees that take seriously student empowerment, cutting-edge research, and the criticality of studying biblical texts within communities of faith and the secular world.

We deal with all biblical texts, using a variety of methods to unlock their transformative potential. These include socio-historical, literary-critical and historical-critical analysis, our world-famous Contextual Bible Study method, and psychological biblical criticism.

Most of our permanent staff are NRF rated researchers, and we enjoy empowering students to attend and present at national/international conferences.

Study the Bible with us and transform your world!
